Field visit for the study of plant diseases

Date: 12/10/2023

Venue: Eklara Banoda

Participants: All the students of M.Sc.

Objective:

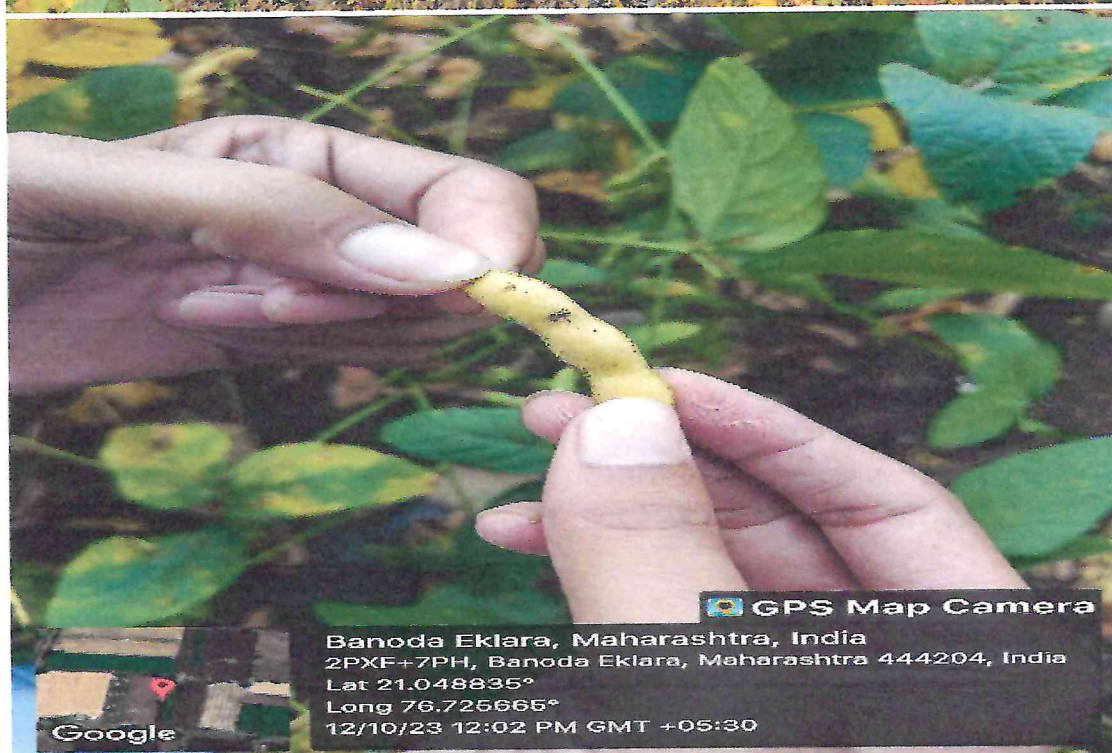

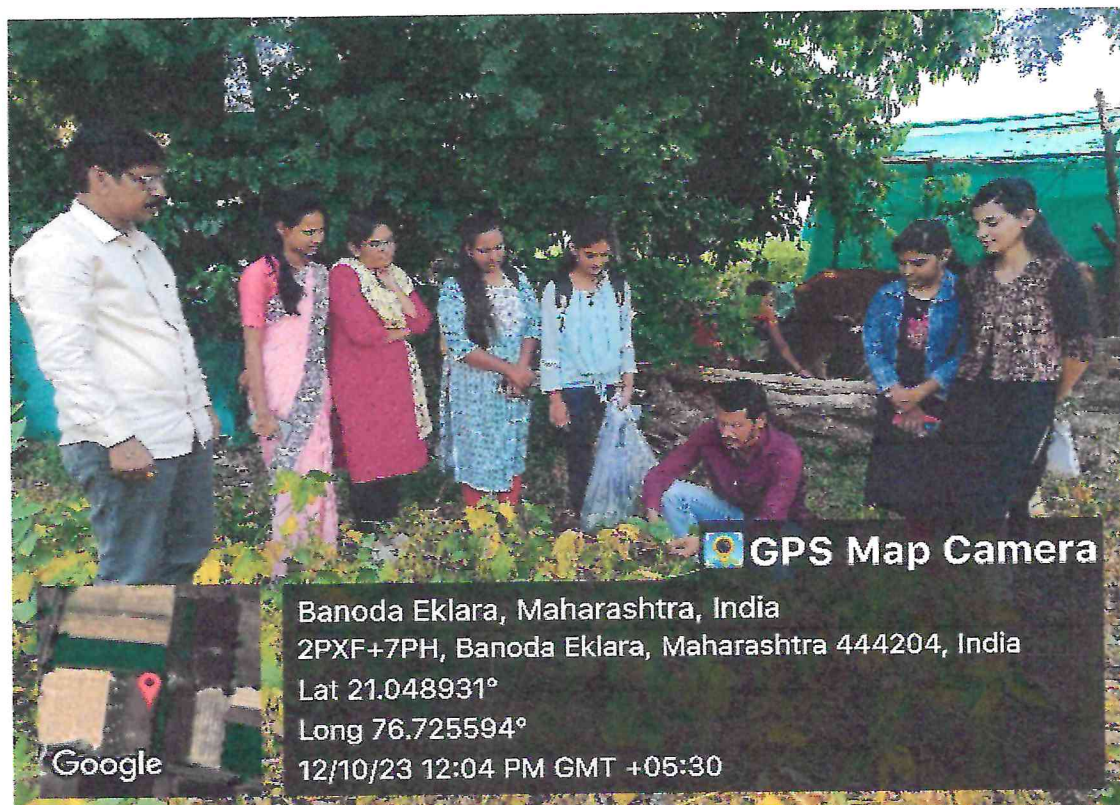

- 1 Identify common fungal, bacterial, phytoplasma, and viral diseases affecting plants in Village Eklara Banoda.
 2. Document the symptoms and severity of these diseases.
 3. Assess the economic and ecological impact of the diseases on crop production.
 4. Discuss potential management strategies with experts.

Highlight

The field visit to Village Eklara Banoda was conducted to study the prevalence, symptoms, and impact of fungal, bacterial, phytoplasma, and viral diseases on plants in the region. The guidance provided by Dr. D. K. Sherkar, Mr. S. S. Mhasal, Dr. K. B. Theng, Dr. N. K. More, Miss Sarika Wagh, and Mr. Gaurav Ingle proved invaluable in understanding the dynamics of plant diseases in this agricultural setting. The prevalence of these diseases poses a significant threat to crop yield and quality. Economic losses due to reduced yields and increased input costs for disease management are substantial. Ecologically, the unchecked spread of diseases can lead to soil degradation and loss of biodiversity. The field visit to Village Eklara Banoda provided valuable insights into the diversity and impact of fungal, bacterial, phytoplasma, and viral diseases on plant health. Through collaborative efforts and informed management strategies, it is possible to mitigate the adverse effects of these diseases and ensure sustainable agricultural practices in the region.

Study Tour

Date: 02/03/2024

Time: One Day

Venue: Chikhaldara Dist. Amravati

Participants: B.Sc. I, II, III Yr Students

Objectives:

1. To know the biodiversity and different forests type.
2. To enhance interest of students towards biodiversity conservation.
3. To start efforts and achievement regarding human health and environmental pollution.

Program Highlights:

The department of Botany arranged a study tour in collaboration with Department of Zoology and Chemistry on the dated on 2 March 2024 at naturalized venue Chikhaldara Biodiversity (A part of Melghat Forest Dist. Amaravati). Initially a proper plan was made and Prof. S S Mhasal, Dr. Megha Solanke and Prof. Nityanand Dahake, head of the Botany, Zoology and Chemistry department respectively discuss the tour plan with honorable principal of our college, kind permission of college principal was taken for the study tour. The study tour mainly focused on biodiversity study and to know the forest on Chikhaldara. In early Morning on 2 March we all participants gather in college campus and went to Chikhaldara by Satpuda Covent School Bus. About 35 UG and PG students actively taken part for this long educational study tour along with 10 teaching faculty. During the study tour visited a biodiversity rich places like Gawilgad fort, Panchbol point, Devi Temple Point, Sunset Point and some biodiversity rich forest area etc. The main focus was given to know the biodiversity. Students collected many plant specimens of algae, fungi, Gymnosperms and some plant specimens of Angiosperms. We also visited Government Botanic Garden, Chikhaldara. During this field study complete information of this Government Botanic Garden was given by Dr. N K More from Department of Botany and Dr. Madhuri Hingankar, department of Zoology. Students noted down all valuable information of flora and founa present in the form of live plants and print and digital board in Government Melghat Botanic Garden, Chikhaldara. Student also enjoys the different toys present in the garden premises, horse riding, toy train riding at Devi point, Coffee Garden, Boating at natural lake and lunch with Tiffin etc. After completion of study tour, we all return back with same Covent School Bus at evening time. During the field visit Dr. Gajanan Paikat, Department of Physical Education also helps us for proper discipline and time management.
